President's Message

"I raise my voice - not so I can shout, but so that those without a voice can be heard...we cannot succeed when half of us are held back." —Malala Yousafzai

Youth Veerangnayan is an organization that works towards women's empowerment—an area that has seen some notable progress in the last decade. More girls today are going to school, more girls today are paving a path towards their independence, and more women today are finding opportunities to work. The society, in general, is becoming more perceptive of the rights of women. Yet, we have a long way to go. Our battles for equality, for seeking equality opportunities are far from over.

What is the most disconcerting is the fact that across the globe, women exercising or even seeking their basic rights are being interpreted as challenges to existing social structures. Every morning, the newspapers come bearing sad news. The endless cases of domestic violence, sexual assaults, honor killing, girl child abuse, and female infanticide are alarming. And though we live in a country where goddesses are worshipped in temples, the birth of a girl is still grieved in some areas.

But I see a ray of hope. The government has woken up; strict laws are being framed against sexual crimes. Celebrities are being chastised for their irresponsible comments about rape. Women-centric movies have garnered attention on social media platforms and other awareness programs, initiated by individuals and welfare societies, are beginning to reach the masses. Society has begun to frown upon those shaming the rape victim.

The government has also initiated programs like “BetiBachoBetiPadhao”, which is commendable. A discussion about the rights of women has started in society, and I hear it, in parts, when I travel or visit markets or restaurants. Today, I envision a future where girls are free to go to school, where the birth of a girl is celebrated, where women have full control over their bodies, where women have equal rights, and where a girl can walk freely in the streets without the fear, where young boys are taught at home to respect every other human being including women, where no one forces anyone for dowry and where women can contribute to society and achieve their maximum potential. Youth Veerangnayan has adopted a multi-pronged strategy to empower women and work towards building such a future.

Drug addiction has become a major problem in the northern parts of the country. Although addiction is more common in men, due to its financial, social, and health-related ramifications, the women in the family suffer the most. Hence, Youth Veerangnayan is helping addicts and their families by providing and directing them to avenues for de-addiction. It has been a wonderful year for Youth Veerangnayan and is a relatively good year for women in general.

Let's hope the good work continues.

THEME

Youth Veerangnayan strongly believes and prophesizes their theme "Empowering YOU", adding soul in its mission's direction to sustain development and strengthen the society.

MISSION

The mission of the Youth Veerangyanyen is to take a life course approach to equip girls and women with knowledge and skills to enable them to be financially independent and contribute to decision-making in the family and society.

VISION

To provide a platform to women and children where they find the avenues to learn, grow and sustain themselves to face the world with confidence and dignity.

ABOUT US

The primary aim of the Youth Veerangnayan is to take a life course approach to equip women and children with knowledge and skills to enable them to be financially independent and contribute to decision-making in the family and society. This was meant to be achieved by providing knowledge, education, vocational training, skill development, counseling, and indispensable appliances to the deprived, to enable them to live a dignified life. We run skill development centers in semi-urban areas providing free vocational training for the underprivileged. We also aim at creating awareness amongst people and women in particular, about leading a healthy lifestyle through our communication and demonstrations at the grassroots.

The Youth Veerangnayan is a group of Young (18-40 yrs.) women who crusade against social evils by organizing rallies, seminars, de-addiction camps, etc while aiding women and children. The Volunteers of Youth Veerangnayan mainly comprise a group of talented and experienced doctors, engineers, principals, teachers, and intellectuals, who are experts in their respective fields and are supported by enthusiastic staff who are a breath of freshness in the whole program. With the co-operation of locals and government support functions, we have designed a plan and commit to innovative solutions that drive true change. We take tiny steps but we move with strong determination and take a responsible risk to benefit the maximum number of girls and women.

OUR INITIATIVES

SEMINARS

Volunteers of the Youth Veerangnayen have been organizing seminars in schools and colleges, to create awareness about important issues among children. We believe that reaching out to children in schools when they are exposed to both, the good and the bad in their immediate environment, is crucial.

AIDS AWARENESS

Youth Veerangnayen has been organizing events and campaigns to create awareness about AIDS and its prevention. Other than competitive events, street plays are regularly being organized to create awareness and thus ensure our young generation can protect itself.

FEEDING BIRDS

At Youth Veerangnayan, we strongly believe that nature is a place where humans, plants and other living beings co-exist in harmony. We have often organized events to install bird-feeders in parks and vicinities.

[illegible]

A group of women in colorful saris are standing in a line, holding a banner. The banner has text in Hindi, including 'सुख दीर्घायन' (Sukh Dighayan) and 'वस्त्र' (Vastri). They are standing in front of a building with a large window.

SAY YES TO LIFE.. NO TO DRUGS

Take An Oath With Veerangnayen- Say No to Drugs

COMPETITIONS

Competitions, be it art or crafts, not only allow the the children to think creatively but they also allow children to subtly yet effectively learn about their environmental and other important issues. We set a wide variety of issues as the themes of the competitions organized by Youth Veerangnayan.

ENVIRONMENTAL INITIATIVES

Climate change, digitalization, and industrialization throughout the world have shifted human ways of living to less sustainable than ever before. There is an immediate need to recognize and act on the essential measures for promoting the health of the environment. The volunteers of Youth Veerangnayen have been actively working in this direction and carrying out activities in schools and different localities to spread awareness among school children and the general public in this regard.

EMPOWERMENT OF WOMEN THROUGH SKILL DEVELOPMENT

In sync with our mission to equip girls and women with skills and knowledge to become financially independent, we run training centers in stitching, beauty, and makeup. We also conduct seminars on women's issues like female feticide, domestic violence, menstrual hygiene, etc. where these issues are addressed by concerned subject experts. The overall objective is to enhance the financial and social status of poor women by enabling them and making them self-dependent.

STATIONERY DISTRIBUTION

EXERCISE: THE BEST WAY TO BEING HEALTHY AND FIT

'Health is Wealth' - is the mantra of women volunteering with us. To share this all across, we have been organizing several yoga and fitness campaigns that include marathons as well as general awareness about the inclusion of exercise in daily routines.

These fitness camps inspires everyone in society to adopt a healthy lifestyle and to stay physically active and fit irrespective of their age.
